

ABOUT GACDL

Since 1974, GACDL has been the most important organization for lawyers involved in the defense of the accused in Georgia. The largest member-funded, statewide criminal defense organization in the country, GACDL is comprised of criminal defense lawyers, law school students, and full-time criminal investigators who stand together in their commitment to safeguard the constitutional guarantees of fairness in the criminal legal system. GACDL makes its voice for fair and effective criminal justice heard in the courts, the legislature, and the community.

Reminder:

100% of the education fee is tax deductible. Donations to GCDLEF are tax deductible. The legislative fee is not tax deductible. Please check with your tax professional for further advice.

Please remit payment before January 1, 2022.

SUSTAINING MEMBERS

Joining as a sustaining member not only pays for your multi-day seminar and webinar fees (excluding CLE fees) and gives you recognition at seminars and in select GACDL publications, but will also pay the membership dues for one public defender.* We are stronger together and it remains a priority of GACDL to include public defenders in its membership.

*Employed in an office that does not pay GACDL dues for their employees

CONTRIBUTING MEMBERS

Contributing members help the association make its budget! These members have their status designated at seminars and their names printed in select GACDL publications. GACDL appreciates your extra contribution.

PUBLIC DEFENDER MEMBERS

If you are employed full-time by a nonprofit organization or are a full-time government employed public defender (circuit, county, city, or federal), you may pay the public defender rate. If all attorneys in your office join GACDL, you receive special discounts on seminars in addition to member discounts.

If you take court appointed cases, you may renew at the regular, contributing, sustaining, or substantial rate.
